Tenth Scampers On Way; Additions Made to Cast

Scampers will be ten years old in January. Just ten years ago the members of Oracle, senior honor society, conceived the idea of sponsoring this student production. At its inception, Scampers was a vaudeville show. Each house and organization presented an act, but in 1940 it developed into its present musical comedy style. The proceeds of this production go into a student loan fund for the benefit of worthy Juniors and Seniors.

This year the business management will be under the hand of Dorothy Schroeter. Programs will be taken care of by Katherine Drachler and Verna Thompson, and Jean Lemka will be in charge of publicity.

The dance committee announces that the following people have been chosen to dance in the chorus: Bernice Peters, Alvina Yankowski, Doris Fullager, Betty Stead, Mary Jane Taylor, Robbie Norris, Norma Sizer, Pat Meehan, Angie Fischette, Olga Heffner, Jean McCabe, Dawn Gould, Evelyn Moore, Shirley Hoagland, Lucille Muncy, Violet Schallenberg, Bernice Westlund, Barbara Luce, Violet Kissel, Dorothy Nadolny, Ruth Youngman, and Rita Vadakin.

Shulz, Cohen, Head Cast Of Current Production

The current production of The Ivory Door by A. A. Milne combines the talents of experienced players and of novices who are appearing for the first time in an Ithaca College major production.

Robert Schulz plays the leading role of Prince Perivale. This is Schulz's first major role although he has appeared in many smaller parts. Last summer he was dramatic director at Camp Wigwam.

Princess Lilla, the feminine lead, is portrayed by Bernice Cohen. She played her first major part last season in Love From A Stranger. Miss Cohen has had much acting experience, having appeared with the second road company of Janie this past summer.

Others in the cast who have appeared in previous I.C. productions are Adrienne Larsen, Enid Kronick, Robert Juhren, Arthur Goodrich, Mary Ann Reeve, Daniel Bonacci, David Mistovsky, John Richardson, Daniel Safford, Sheryl Siegel, Gwennyth Jones, and Jeanne Rockefeller.

Those appearing for the first time include, Keith Connes, Kenneth Nathanson, William Ayres, Barbara Vincent, Ruth Lasker, Anita Bernstein, Jean Transue, Mary Sampson, Evelyn Coville, Blossom Goldfeder, Elinor Barnett, and Ruby Westervelt.

The size of the cast and nature of the play have made necessary an elaborate costume plot.

Peace In A World At War

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men", the familiar watchword of the Christmas season, may in this fourth year of war sound a little hollow and perhaps out of place. But before we start to bemoan the fact that this year there will be no Christmas spirit, let us first consider what it may mean.

Christmas has always been a time for fun and merry making; it brings to mind warmth, cheer, love, and happy family gatherings. Its basis is of course religious, and yet all these other attitudes grow out of the religious background.

But even without form and ceremony the Christmas season has a meaning all its own to each individual. The peace that we may speak of need not necessarily be among groups of people, it can be a peace in the heart of each man; good will to men can imply a faith in the ultimate goodness of all mankind.

This fundamental goodness of each individual can be shown in the incident of World War I familiar to everyone. The story is told of Christmas Eve at the front, and of how all fighting ceased and American, French, English and German troops joined in singing Christmas carols across the stretches of No Man's Land. The present struggle has seen no such expression of feeling. The Germans with whom we are fighting today have been schooled against any display of emotion; the Japanese come from a civilization entirely opposed to our own. This year perhaps there may not be outward signs of Christmas throughout the world, but wherever there are those who have been brought up in the Christmas tradition, as we know it, there will be an inward feeling and knowledge of Christmas. In pauses in battle, in quiet homes, in all the four corners of the earth, if only everyone would stop in his heart remember what Christmas has meant, and what it will mean again then perhaps the real Christmas spirit will unfold. When men realize this, they will recall the beginning of the familiar quotation "GLORY TO GOD ON HIGH" and there will be "Peace on Earth Good Will to Men."

Because of several requests, we have reprinted the editorial which appeared in last year's Christmas issue of the Ithacan. We feel that it still expresses the spirit of the times and is most appropos for this year.

Seniors Sponsor Dance On Last Night of Scampers Ithacan Adds Six New Members to News Staff

On January 13, the closing night of Scampers, the senior class will sponsor a dance in the gym from 10:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. for the entertainment of the entire student body. Admission will be through activities tickets only, although each person in the school will be allowed outside guests.

Bernard Shifrin and Leon Resnick are in charge of procuring the orchestra. The gym will be decorated by Helen Champeau, Beatrice Miller, Marjorie Reynolds, Bernice Westlund, and Shirley Williams. The dance will be publicized by Dorothy Allen and Robin Norris; Helen Champeau, Sheryl Siegel, and Ken Nathanson will be guardians of the door.

As a result of the Ithacan competition six new members have been added to the news staff. They are: Carol Knopf, Howard Levine, Robert Juhren, Jean Transue, Mary Sampson, and Betty Ann Lauterbach.

These six were chosen because of the quality of their work, their interest in the paper, and the satisfactory completion of each assignment given them.

All three departments of Ithaca College are now represented on the Ithacan staff. Editor Eleanor Segal said, "If there seems to be preponderance of Drama students on the staff, it must be remembered that two-thirds of those who entered the competition were from the Drama Department."

Ithaca College Choir Sings Annual Concert

Under the direction of Dr. Bert Rogers Lyon the Ithaca College choir will present its annual Christmas concert Tuesday evening, December 19 at 8:15 p. m. in the Little Theater. At this time President Job will give his Christmas message to the student body.

Included on the program will be carols of English, French, Spanish, Polish, Czech and Tyrolean origin and American regional folk carols from North Carolina and the Appalachians. Dr. Lyon will also lead the choir in Ludovico Vittoria's "O Magnum Mysterium" and J. P. Sweelinck's "Hodie Christus Natus Est," two sixteenth century compositions which will be sung in the original Latin.

A similar program will be given December 20 when the choir will be guests of the Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Ithaca Hotel.

Kenneth Klein Dies In Action In Germany

Kenneth Klein, formerly of the class of 1945, was reported killed in action with the First Army in Germany on November 18. He had been in actual combat for only four weeks.

While at Ithaca College, Private Klein had been a student in the Physical Education Department. He played freshman soccer and won his college letter on the varsity soccer team. He had been a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa, Adelphi, and had been on the Dean's List for high scholarship.

Leaving school in the spring of 1943, at the end of his sophomore year, Pvt. Klein was inducted into the Army. He trained with the Tank Corps in Texas and was then transferred to the ASTP at Newark, New Jersey. When this was abandoned, he entered the infantry and was sent overseas last August. He spent some time in England, France, and Belgium before being attached to the First Army at Aachen in late October.

In response to many requests from the student body the Ithacan staff has enlarged this issue to four pages. This special issue is the staff's Christmas present to the school.

Mail

What more welcome cry is there,
Than the cry of mail;
Men seem to come from everywhere
I've never seen it fail.

Shove and jostle eagerly
While a hundred voices shout,
"Is there any for me?"

And a hundred hands reach out.
They sit down in the nearest place
Wherever they can read

And a happy smile on every face
Is a warming sight indeed.
But when the mail is all passed out,
Some slowly turn away.

And I truly pity those without.
Any mail today.
If the folks back home knew what it meant,

Those letters to receive,
I'm sure that letters would be sent,
To gladden hearts that grieve.

I can appreciate their hungry eyes;
It's a sight I hate to see,
For I know how my own hope dies,

When there is no mail for me.

A Christmas Prayer

As we bow our figures
So that we may pray
May we raise our voices
On this and each new day.
When our homeless parents
Came to this new land,
They were free and willing
To lend a helping hand.
Take your guns and rifle,
Fly your mighty planes,
"Kill or be killed," slogans are
Our generation's game.
Yes, our fathers played them
And those before did too
Wars are cruel and hateful
But wars are nothing new.
Let us take our lessons
From those who fought and won.
Let us all be grateful
For this, that they have done.
Please then, God, protect us,
By thy mighty hand—
Lead us, guide us, help us
Keep faith to understand.

MAIL CALL

Dear Johnnie,

Winter has descended on Ithaca with a vengeance. This past week we have had nothing but snow—snow and more snow. We wake up in the morning and find that the whole world has been turned into a fairyland. All the kids are out sledding, tobogganing, and having snow fights.

All these sparkling cold nights with clean, white snow on the ground have helped us to put a real Christmas spirit into the air.
All the houses have lovely trees, and many, many parties, and such are planned for the weekend.

Had a letter the other day from one of our boys who is a long way off, Dick Herfort, in Assam, India. He has been made Staff Sergeant and incidentally has been awarded the Air Medal,
Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross. That's really something. Nice going Dick. He has also been drumming up business for ole I. C. by giving some lessons and pep talks to fellows interested in music. Already one of the fellows is planning to come here after the war. Dick sends regards to everyone—especially the Kappa Gamma fellows—everywhere.

Paul Corneau writes that he is somewhere in France with the 29th Field Hospital. He is a sergeant. "Corny" has done quite a bit of traveling, having gotten to France via the Aleutian Islands (there for a year) and then England. In the Aleutians he took part in the famous Kiska invasion. "Corny" also tells us that his engagement has been announced to a girl from his home town. Our best to you both! On his way to England Paul ran into John Gelder a former Phy Ed student.

Word has just arrived that Dom DiSarro was married last week. The girl is Dorothy Druliner of Kansas City, Missouri.
Dom, as you know, is a Lieutenant in the Air Corps.

Two Kappa Gamma men met recently in England. They are Eli Cohen and Jerry Allen who have just been shipped overseas.

Phi EK man Dave Rothenberg is teaching now in Katonah.

Look, Johnnie, this letter is not too newsy, but the fact is that we've been receiving very little mail from any of you lately.
It's hard for us to get news of you when you don't let us know where you are and what sort of things have been happening to you.
Just a postcard would be fine! And that would help us a lot in letting all the kids, both here and away, know how things are going.

Well, Johnnie we've got to get all bundled up now and go out into the cold to mail this to you. As we step into the snow we can't help remembering how much you loved "White Christmas" and although there may not be one where you are now, at least you can keep on dreaming of all the white and happy Christmases in store for you when you come back.

So Merry Christmas, Johnnie, and "God Bless us, everyone."

Kappa Gamma Psi

Kappa Gamma Psi takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. Henry B.
O'Connell, violin instructor at I. C. is now a member of the brotherhood. Honorary membership was conferred upon Mr. O'Connell on November 30th.

The forthcoming Kappa Gamma-Delta Phi Zeta dance will not take place until after the Christmas Holiday.

Daniel Safford's pledgeship to the fraternity has been extended over the vacation. The exact date of his initiation has not been set.

"Butt, Butt, Who Has A Butt?" College Cry

You have seen long lines of people standing in the snow. Looking for an honest man? No, just a cigarette. From all over town at 12:30 Monday one can see people hurrying frantically to State Street. A parade? No. A visiting celebrity? No. A fire? No! Cigarettes at Mayer's! And so the long line forms down past Rothschild's, even, one noon, past Doan's. Paul Reeve couldn't spread the word faster! "Cigarettes at Mayer's." "Cigarettes at Doan's! Drop everything and rush."

Money doesn't matter; beauty is a shallow thing. It's the guy with a cigarette that counts these days. One consolation, he who stands haunting a long cigarette in the lobby today is also he who stand drooling with the crowd tomorrow.

The new "penny-for-a-cigarette" club inaugurated in the lobby last week was a fine idea. But who would rather have a penny than a cigarette?

A new body of sayings has risen up. No longer is it, "Got a cigarette?" Now we hear, "Could I have a puff?" and the "weed" passes from hand to hand like a gold coin.

"Greater love hath no man than that he give a cigarette to his friend." Got an extra butt?

Ghosts Invade I. C.

Are You One?

"You're a ghost!" "I am not, I'm only part of one." This has gone on for some time wherever a group of I. C. students gathers. If you haven't seen any of the spectres, don't be surprised. They're really not there. The "ghosts" or "almost ghosts" are only playing a game.

It's rather difficult to explain on paper this spelling game which has swept the school. If you'd really like to learn, just barge in on any group of people who seem to be cogitating, saying various letters and heatedly referring to Webster. You'll surely find yourself at least a G-H-O-S-

Earle De Motte Perennial Santa Claus for I. C.

You are all familiar with the traditional open letter on the back of the programs of all the Drama Departments productions. Mr. E. W. DeMotte, of the Corner Book Store, author of these letters, is a friend in need, and Ithaca College is so often in need that he often has opportunity to prove it. Mr. DeMotte offers a scholarship to a worthy underclassman in the Drama Department, he writes the open letter, and now he has offered to sponsor the printing of programs for Scampers.

Radio Students Aid On WHCU's Childrens' Hour

Every Saturday morning from ten o'clock to twelve, the Little Theatre is virtually swamped with youngsters. When WHCU's newly organized Children's Club outgrew the studio's capacity, station executives arranged to transfer it to the College Theatre.

Last Saturday's meeting was very successful—and very amusing. The children were all enthusiastic—so much so, in fact, that Jack Deal, who is in charge of the club, was overrun by curious children. One by one they crept onto the stage where the radio to which they were listening was placed—one by one until the stage was almost covered with children. The program ended just in time. Then the children began to rehearse their own show, which consisted of songs and recitations, and after the production, Jack Deal held tryouts for next Saturday's show.

Members of the college radio classes are helping with the shows by assisting the engineers in the setting up of controls, caring for the equipment, and doing other odd jobs that go with the production of a radio program. Last Saturday Keith Connes and Barbara Vincent were the apprentices. Margaret Lobbin and Patricia Hoppes are scheduled for next week.

Frosh Flash Baby Fotos

Admission to the Freshman class party on Monday will be a baby picture. The party will be at 8:00 in the Ithaca College Gym.

Dancing, games, entertainment, and refreshments will be included in this novel admission fee.

David Bonacci, the class president, has appointed the following committee members: Refreshments, Mildred Eber, Howard Levine; Entertainment, Lyne Klein, Svbil Hillman, Ruth Mosher, Dottie Wyant; Publicity, Marjorie Hayward, Lorraine Schmallberger.

Sophomores To Raffle Bond

Some member of the student body will be presented with a twenty-five dollar War Bond by the Sophomore class according to plans announced today by Robert Shulz, class president. Every I. C. student will be eligible to receive this gift—every one, that is, who goes to the booth which will be placed in the lobby after Christmas vacation and purchases a ribbon which will be on sale there. This ribbon will be accompanied by a number. Corresponding numbers will be placed in a bowl, and at the end of the week will be drawn out. The holder of this number will be given the War Bond. Details are not yet completed, so watch the bulletin board for further information, and be present, wearing your ribbon, when the big day comes.

Pied Piper Wanted To Rid School of Rodents

Ithaca College is in dire need of a Pied Piper, for we have been invaded by a large family of rodents which seems to be increasing day by day.

Visitors to Mrs. Lynch's office are gaily greeted with, "Come on in if you like the company of me and other other mice!"

It was also reported that Mr. Hoerner found it necessary to dismiss his class in Scene Design in order to devote his time to catching a mouse, as his students seemed to find it rather difficult to concentrate on cycloramas and such with this minor menace in evidence.

Even the dorms cannot escape this plague. A student was awakened one morning by the sound of a mouse which was breakfasting on her carefully hoarded saltines.

If you should see some of the inmates of Hilliard House with kerchiefs tied under their chins even when attired in pajamas, do not be alarmed. Hilliard has a bat! Although said bat has not been seen since the night it came swooping down the stairway like an inebriated B-29, the girls are taking no chances on having to sport crew haircuts.

So. Pacific Marine Writes 'Thanks For The Memory'

Somewhere out in the South Pacific several rugged marines are the proud owners of beauty implements most girls find it impossible to purchase these days. It all came about when Maryann Reeve made the mistake of sending H. Page Johnson a gift package which she had intended for her cousin who is a member of the Red Cross overseas. The package contained curlers, bobby pins, and shampoo, among other things. Her cousin must have been equally surprised to receive Maryann's package to Marine Johnson. They say it's the thought not the gift that counts, but who thought?

Pick Up That Butt—Or Put Up A Penny

Got a penny for that box? Yes that's the thought of the day and a good thought for all to think over, any one that is who wants to help make Ithaca College lobby a place to be proud of. Here's the plan . . . Every time a cigarette butt or a piece of paper is thrown on the floor, the culprit must forfeit a penny to be placed in the little box set aside for the eventful purchase of a bond. If all cooperate the lobby will be clean and the college will be the owner of a war bond.

The Cayugan would like to remind the students that many informal snapshots are still needed. Please put them in Bill West's box today.

The Editors and Staff of the Ithacan take this opportunity to wish the faculty and student body a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

SPORTS

Bombers Blast St. Bonaventure, 46 - 34

Then Lose Pair To Clarkson and St. Lawrence

Starting out on the right foot in the first contest of a 12 game schedule, the Ithaca College quintet defeated the Bonnies at Olean, on Dec. 2 by a score of 46-34. This was a well-earned victory for the Bombers, who have worked very hard to prepare for the current campaign.

Coach Doe Yavits expressed himself as well pleased with the showing the team made in its first game of the season. Both clubs took the floor with the same type of men, mostly 17 year olds and war veterans with the Ithaca gang proving superior.

The Bombers started out by using a man to man defense as did the Bonnies, with both teams switching to a zone occasionally. The Bombers led most of the way with Niel Pronay throwing in some beautiful set shots from near center court. At the end of the half the charges of Coach Yavits enjoyed a three point advantage, leading 20-17.

The Blue and Gold Quintet proved themselves to be a well balanced bunch with everybody sharing in the scoring. Neither clubs relied too much on long sets, as both clubs, using a fast break, were able to penetrate each others' defense. Most of the scoring was done with lay-up shots and tap ins under the basket. It took the Bombers some time to get started, but once they did, it was the end of the Bonnies. The most exciting action by far took place in the fourth quarter.

Leading the scorers was Neil Pronay, who collected 6 goals and a foul for 13 points. High man for the Bonnies was Bill Olstrum with 12 points collected on 6 two pointers. Outstanding on the floor was Stu Sarkissian, who, although he scored only 2 points, set up plays like a veteran. Another outstanding factor in the victory was the height of Hank Crowell and Red Lynaugh, Ithaca's elongated center. Bill West and Art Stone, saw action in the fourth quarter.

After winning its opener from St. Bonaventure, the Blue and Gold suffered defeats at the hands of two Northern New York College teams last week end. The Bombers played St. Lawrence at Canton Saturday night, and Clarkson at Potsdam Sunday afternoon.

At Canton Saturday night the St. Lawrence quintet, laden with V-12 material and led by Mascioni and Urkin, both all state nominees in high school last year had the advantage over the inexperienced Ithaca team.

The game was a rough, closely contested one. The cause of the defeat was the inability of the Blue and Gold to split the cords from the foul line, they missed enough foul shots to win an ordinary game. St. Lawrence committed 22 personal fouls and Ithaca 17 for a grand total of 39 personal fouls. The Larries were big and rangy, and both teams employed a man to man defense.

St. Lawrence led most of the way except in the second period when the Bombers tied the score at 13-13 and again at 15-15. The score at half-time was 22-20 in favor of the Larries.

Outstanding for Ithaca were Hank Crowell, Pat Fiore, and big Red Lynaugh. Crowell dribbled the length of the floor 3 times to put in lay ups while "Big Red" Lynaugh put in with deadly accuracy long sets from the side. With 10 points, Mascioni topped the Larrie scorers, but Lynaugh of Ithaca was high man with 12 points and Pat Fiore close behind with 11.

Clarkson's Late Rally Wins

The Ithaca College quintet went down to defeat for the second time in two days when they lost to Clarkson Tech at Potsdam Sunday afternoon. The score was 50-40. It was the first game of the season for the Engineers.

The game was closely contested and during the first half neither team held more than a four point lead. The score at the end of the first quarter was 12-11, with Clarkson ahead, and the Engineers held a one point margin at halftime, 27-26. Clarkson opened the third period by putting on a scoring spree quickly to gain a nine point lead, which the Bombers were unable to overcome. The closing period put both teams to the test,

Hobart Game Cancelled

A prospective game at Geneva with Hobart last Wednesday night was called off by Hobart, which left only the two week-end games to complete the schedule for the week.

Hobart accepted an offer from the Syracuse Air Base to play in Geneva Wednesday night before Ithaca's acceptance of the proposed game reached it.

but the deadly shooting of Cragnolin clinched the game for Tech.

On the whole Ithaca played better ball and should have won the game, but the accurate shooting of Cragnolin was more than the Bombers could cope with. By far the most outstanding player on the Ithaca team was Stu Sarkissian, who was a good all-around floor man and who gave drive to the entire team.

Cragnolin of Clarkson Tech led the scorers with 15 points collected on 7 field goals and one foul. Stu Sarkissian and Hank Crowell collected 11 each for Ithaca.

Phy Ed Alumni Meet At Convention In Syracuse

On Jan. 25, 26, 27, the alumni of the Physical Education Dept. of Ithaca College will hold a reunion at Syracuse. The occasion is the annual convention of Health, Physical Ed. and Recreational teachers of New York State. There will be a special get together and luncheon on the afternoon of the 25th for the Ithaca College representatives. The affair is being arranged by Mr. Hill. The college will be represented by Dr. Job, Mr. Devricks, Secretary of the College, the Phy. Ed. faculty, and some seniors of the Phy. Ed. Dept.

The Ithaca faculty is well represented in the association. Dr. Grimshaw is chairman of the Teachers Training and Certification committee; Mr. Hill is chairman of the Physical Education Secondary School Boys Program; and Miss Huggar is a member of the Physical Education Elementary School Program.

Ithaca College Reserves Compete In City League

The Ithaca College J.V. basketball team will compete in the City League, it was disclosed by Coach Yavits. As yet their schedule has not been released.

The City League is an eight team league. All the games are played on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the season running through until next March. All the games are played in the Ithaca High School gym. The league is under the direction of Joe Tatasciore, an Ithaca College graduate who coaches the Ithaca H. S. basketball team.

The I. C. team will be coached by Bill West, a senior. Members: Earle Manning, Don Stead, Gene Carr, Bud Porter, Bill Blood, and of the team are George Khoury, Ed Rosenbarker.

The team will also compete Saturday night in a preliminary to the Ithaca-Cornell Middle game.

Bombers Meet Middies

Tomorrow night the Blue and Gold will trek up the hill to meet the Cornell Middies in Barton Hall. This will be the final game before the Xmas holiday. The Cornell Middies will be a tough nut to crack; they showed this by beating the Cortland State Teachers College last week.

After the Xmas holiday the Ithaca College Quintet will make four game home stand beginning on Saturday night Jan. 6 in the Ithaca College Gym against the Bloomsburg Teachers quintet.
